

August C. LaFontaine Dies At Parchman Very Confident Of Joy In Eternal Life

FAVRE
Coast Echo
was around his
in his hand
on his lips
in his fellow in his ears...
After receiving his sentence
of death, La Fontaine's case
was appealed to the State Superior Court. The higher court
refused to accept this motion.

So La Fontaine paid for his crime to society by forfeiting his life in the gas chamber. Friday to face his death.

I was there before and after the execution. Here are the things that I witnessed in my official capacity of a newspaper reporter, authorized by the State of Mississippi, to cover the inflicting of capital punishment

on one of our home county men, who reached the end just 20 odd years after his entrance in this chamber.

After receiving his sentence
of death, La Fontaine's case
was appealed to the State Superior Court. The higher court
refused to accept this motion.

When the highway patrol plane
landed at Parchman, I got off and the first thing I saw was a group of prisoners dressed in striped prison garb plowing the fields.

From here our party of which included Colonel

song of the State Highway patrol and a member of his staff, drove to the newly constructive maximum security cell, where the inmates who face the gins chamber are kept for security purposes.

Here as we approached the first gate we were stopped by a guard and searched for any metal articles. Then we had to sign the register and have our names checked by the Superintendent in the main office.

Immediately my eyes caught the building, which is shaped like the form of a rectangle, and waisted at the front door to be admitted into the building for the past three weeks.

A guard on the inside pressed a button and the steel gates to the spiritual and mental slowly moved open. The same ceremony had to be performed to gain entrance through the second door and into the office of Superintendent Marvin Wig-

the condemned man that morning and in our Church.

I want you to know how much I appreciate all you have done for me. Praise the Lord I'm back with Him and our Church. I have seen the mistakes of my life and I pray
others will come back to Christ
before it is too late.

Then Father Paul said, "Yes Boogie is ready to meet his death. He has been calm for the past three weeks and has had unbound faith in God

Several crews of telephone workers were called to repair
the damage.

Then Sunday night the lines were cut again. This time two miles from the spot where the first instance occurred. Again a large number of crews were called to duty to repair the extensive damage.

But, that was not the finish
of the sabotage of these same lines. They were cut for the third and last time at a spot between Waveland and Lake-shore.

The estimated value involved in the repair work was $900.00.

According to J. C. Dabney, manager of the Coast Office of the telephone company, the loss of money due to the cir-

NELIUS C. RHODES CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION AS J. P.

In making this, my formal announcement, for re-election as Justice of the Peace Beat No. Five, I first want to thank the people of Beat Five for having shown their confidence in me by electing me to this office, by a large majority, four years ago.

During my tenure of office, I have performed the duties of this office to which I was elected to the best of my ability, and having so followed the dictates of my conscience I am satisfied to run again for this office solely upon the record that I have made during the past four years.

The duties, as prescribed by law, for the Justice of the Peace are various, numerous and sundry besides the general duties prescribed by law, I have been honored by having the privilege of having served as Juvenile Referee, having been appointed to this office by Hon. Chancellor D. M. Russell. There seems to be a general misunderstanding about the exact duties of the Juvenile Referee in that it is thought by many that these duties entail the duties of a Truant Officer's work, specifically seeing that children who do not attend school are forced to do so. While I have no such privilege and the rights of this office does not allow me to force children or even request that they attend school, I have, nevertheless, done everything possible, within my power to assist all children in their troubles and problems and have often urged upon parents to perform their duty and see that their children attend school. It is my belief that a busy child, an occupied child, and a child attending school is a good child. In my experience never have I had to deal with a delinquent child who was occupied and attended school. Please let me again emphasize that I wish that I did have the authority to see that these delinquent children were forced to attend school, but I repeat that I do not have such power.

I have tried to diligently and conscientiously to administer justice fairly and impartially and personally have at all times followed the dictates of what I thought was right. I can promise you nothing more than a further administration of justice in the manner in which I have heretofore performed my duties.

I have tried to be available for service to all of the people twenty-four hours each day for the past three and one half years. My home has always been opened to all people and I have taken great pleasure in being able to have been of assistance to all of the people of this beat. There will be no change in this policy in the next four years if you people re-elect me to this office.

Again expressing my deep appreciation for the confidence heretofore placed in me by the voters of Beat Five, I earnestly solicit your continued support and I ask that you again re-elect me to this office as you did in 1951.

Nellus Rhodes

For Growers

The Farmers Home Administration has been authorized to make emergency loans to eligible tung and vegetable growers in Hancock County as a result of the recent freeze. It was announced today by Charles E. Ballard, Acting County Supervisor.

These loans are also available in George, Greene, Forest, Harrison, Jackson, Jones, Lamar, Marion, Pearl River, Perry, Pike, Stone, Walthall and Wayne Counties.

To be eligible a grower must be primarily engaged in farming and devote most of his time to the actual management and operation of his farm and depend on the farm for a livelihood. Emergency Loans do not take the place of local credit it only supplements it. Those who can obtain credit from some other source on reasonable terms are not eligible.

These Emergency Loans are secured loans. Those who qualify will give security on crops, chattels and real estate. Loans can be made for current crop expense such as seed, feed, fertilizer and cultivation. Loans cannot be made to refinance any debt. Farmers who apply for assistance will please have their production records available for the year 1951 through 1954.

Those who are interested in this Emergency Loan should contact the Local Farmers Home Administration office in their respective county. The Hancock County Office is located in the Agricultural Center Building on Nacelle Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

I have tried to be available for service to all of the people twenty-four hours each day for the past three and one half years. My home has always been opened to all people and I have taken great pleasure in being able to have been of assistance to all of the people of this beat. There will be no change in this policy in the next four years if you people re-elect me to this office.

FRANK HOBBS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR CONSTABLE

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF BEAT NUMBER 5, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISS.

Please consider this as the announcement of my candidacy for the office of Constable, Beat number Five, Hancock County in the primary election to be held on August 2.

I was born in Bay St. Louis and spent the greater part of my life here. I am married and am the father of two children. My elementary and high school education was completed at St. Stanislaus and attended Tulane University. I served as Chief of Police of Bay St. Louis and my record of service to the people in that capacity is open for inspection.

Respectfully submitted,

Francis (Frank) Hobbs, Jr.
L. C. LADNER ENTERS RACE FOR STATE - SENATOR

L. C. Ladner, widely known Mississippi educator, has entered the August Democratic primary as a candidate for the office of State Senator from Hancock County, Pearl River and Lamar Counties.

Ladner is no newcomer to political campaigns. He has been on the stump and in the headquarters of other candidates in the past. He is well known in the counties in which he is making the current campaign.

Mr. Ladner is 40 years of age, and Master Mason in the Moses Cook Lodge No. 111 of Pleasure.

He was born and reared in Pearl River County, competed in high school and attended Pearl River Junior College for two years before receiving his B. S. degree from Southeastern College at Hammond, La. He completed work for his master's degree at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg.

Ladner has taught school for the past 16 years as superintendent and principal in Pearl River and Harrison Counties and at present is superintendent of the Kiln High School in Hancock County. He is also president of the Principal's Association in Hancock County.

Since the state's new public school program has a definite tie-in with the function of the Senate, Ladner stated that his experience in education fits him for the post. His personal statement to the voters is:

I married the former Miss Ticia Dedeaux of Hancock County and we have two children, L. C. Jr., who is serving with the U. S. Air Force in Arabia, and our five-year-old daughter, Myran Ann, who is at home with us.

If the people of these three counties see fit to elect me as their senator, I will endeavor to work for:

1. A minimum teachers retirement pay of $150.00 per month.

2. Better pay for bus drivers.

Miss Netto Weds Serviceman

The marriage of Miss Carol May Netto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Netto of Cedar Point to Frank Hass of Pennsylvania took place at the Netto home this past week.

For the charming ceremony, witnessed by the family and a few close friends, the Netto home was decorated throughout with spring flowers, lilies predominating, and greenery. The marriage took place before an altar banked with flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a light blue jacket dress and in her hair a wreath of white flowers. Her corsage was of white roses.

Her only attendant was Miss Flora May Necaise. The best man was Godfrey Spangle, who is stationed with the groom at Keesler Field.

Following the ceremony a small reception was held, with refreshments served from a beautifully decorated table centered with a three tier wedding cake. A lace covering, rosebuds and fern were used in the dining room.

By MRS. J. G. TROUTEL

The Clermont Harbor Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Saleeby Monday.

After the devotional by Mrs. Saleeby, Mrs. B. Jeanreau called the roll and each member was asked to report on an interesting article they recently read. Mrs. M. Rousseau read an editorial topic, "Mississippi Women on the Conservation team."

Miss Sara Weaver gave the demonstration on leather tooling.

1955 returns deposited for the American Red Cross collections from Clermont Harbor were $153.15.

Mrs. Ed Orte, Mrs. Wayne Hazelett, Mrs. H. L. Wesner and Mr. H. L. Wesner were the collectors.

Miss Katherine Troutel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Troutel celebrated her 14th birthday on April 10 with a party at the Gulfview Camp in Lakeshore.

Seniors Feted At Yacht Club

On Friday night April 22 the Junior Class and their sponsors, Miss Julia Blaize and Mr. William Brode, entertained the seniors and faculty at a prom given at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

The club was beautifully decorated with moss and roses. The theme "Memories and Melodies" was carried out on the painted background, which represented two seniors reminiscing at a Prom. The entrance and walls were decorated with musical notes, footballs, basketballs, track shoes and other symbols covered with glitter which also carried out the theme.

You can't burn the candle at BOTH ENDS . . .

Each year producers find more natural gas than we use... even though the consumption of this premium fuel continues to grow rapidly. The producer may spend over a million dollars on one well. On the average, he drills nine exploratory wells before he finds one that yields anything at all. Those engaged in the risky business of finding adequate supplies of gas for the future should be encouraged at every opportunity. Without the incentive of a profit in keeping with the risks involved, producers cannot be expected to continue exploring for new gas fields, and...

...this is a search that must never end

Chevrolet Turbo-Fire V8⁹⁹

This is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stopwatches wherever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR* stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, the Motoramic Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that outpaces the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8".

It puts a new kind of fire in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower—or if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe!

Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet is showing its heels to everyone else on the road!

Combine your new Chevrolet purchase with your vacation plans! Order a new Chevrolet through us, then pick it up at the plant in Flint, Michigan, see Chevrolets built, if you like, and drive yours home. Chances are, you'll save a substantial share of your vacation travel costs!

In 20 years, beginning in 1933 and ending in 1953, the Federal Government has spent a total of 775 billion dollars - an amount that no one but an astronomer measuring the distances to the moon and stars can fully comprehend. That a nation $280 billion so in debt, that has balanced its budget only three times in 26 years, has managed to survive at all is one of the extraordinary achievements of our political and economic history.

Yet despite all the financial punishment we have taken, we have endured as the world's oldest republic, with the oldest federal system and the oldest constitution. Without a state church we have preserved our moral standards and have established a system of universal education without becoming over-educated. Unlike South America split into many parts, we are a united people, sometimes despite greedy majorities and designing minorities, and have withstood the shock of Revolution and Rebellion.

We have fought two world wars in our time, pursued divers police actions in remote parts of the earth, have twice botched up world peace with diplomatic errors, yet have come through it all a world power, and achieved it without imposing our will on others or taking the territory of defeated foes.

An overtaxed nation that has recovered from a major depression and survived a world war, all in 20 years, should be able to withstand unprecedented prosperity. The American system must be made out of good stuff.

Our political economy has been subjected to turmoil and torture but the end is not yet. Who knows but that we may still have to hold our feet to some fire? Periodically, it is the lot of mankind to go through testing times.

Every generation must reconsecrate itself to the unfinished task of building a better society.

So these are challenging as well as exciting and inspiring times. Believe it or not, there has never been any primrose path to the Promised Land. Blessed are they who have lived and learned to be constantly on the alert, prepared for every crisis, ready to meet every emergency.
